

It has been a pleasure since the "Do Not Call" law has gone into effect.

As you and your families probably also have experienced; annoying calls during your meals, early morning on a weekends, including Sunday's, and plain and simply, just bothersome interruptions during your home life with people and products you are just not interested in.

Please DO NOT change any laws granting these unsolicited sales calls any further access to our personal lives. As consumers, when we want something, we know how and where to find it.

Another annoying call were all of the political "vote requests" during our past election in November of 2004. I'd love those to also be blocked.

Thank you very much!
